

Solar water heating installation offered

Plumbing Doctor has announced that it is now offering solar water heater installation to area property owners.

The company is offering Solahart brand solar units for customers seeking to use solar energy to reduce dependence on gas or electrical back-up units.

"In warmer, sunnier climates solar units can produce a higher percentage of the overall hot water output," founder and CEO Michael Farias said. "This makes solar water heaters ideal for our area, and with the rising energy costs, they're ideal for most budgets."
